Eagle ACCESS ASP Solution Available on Sun Solaris 10 OS

BOSTON – June 11, 2008 – Eagle Investment Systems LLC, a leading provider of financial services technology and a subsidiary of The Bank of New York Mellon, today announced that Eagle ACCESS, its application service provider is currently available on Sun Microsystems' Solaris™ 10 Operating System (OS).

With availability on the Solaris 10 OS, Eagle is better able to deliver robust hosted solutions with a high level of performance and availability to clients. Eagle ACCESS has taken full advantage of the Solaris 10 OS to support its Eagle ACCESS clients and offer them lower operational costs due to the many administrative tools available. The system enables a streamlined approach to managing multiple servers across an organization due to Solaris 10 OS's modern and efficient operating structure.

"Eagle is committed to significant research and development of our products and solutions, but we are equally committed to compatibility with the leading solutions that support both of our hosted and installed solutions," said Marc Firenze, Eagle's chief development officer. "Our clients are sophisticated and demand leading solutions to help achieve the highest level of performance and availability necessary to run their investment management solutions successfully."

"Financial technology firms must continuously provide their clients enhanced service offerings with high performance and high availability and scalability," said Juan Carlos Soto, vice president of global market development and engineering, Sun Microsystems. "By deploying their ASP solutions on Solaris, Eagle Investment Systems is best positioned to meet customers' needs today and into the future."
